Prof. Joshua Lederberg
Dept. of Genetics
Stanford University School of Medicine
Palo Alto, California

Dear Professor:

I am interested in checking some information I obtained during a course of Psychology at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, Lafayette, Louisiana.

We were discussing genes and heredity characteristics during a class period and the Professor gave an example of three women who had given virgin births, with each of these women having female children and these female children being unable to reproduce.

The first woman reported as having done so was to have been from England, and should have been in the year 1940 or 1941.

Our library does not keep British Genetics books so I am unable to find a record there.

Would you please furnish me any information that you have on this subject.

Yours very truly,
